

ROBERTO ROVIRA

Roberto Rovira is a Miami-based artist and landscape architect whose creative work ranges from environmental installations, to printmaking and design. His work explores the transformation of natural patterns and proposes that despite dramatic anticipated changes to our environment, a hopeful and inspiring future leverages our creative legacy as human beings with our irrepressible instincts to thrive under the most adverse conditions.

